WORKING HARD TO GET INTO CONDITION

DOPE GIVEN BY OBSERVER OF CONDITION OF MEN TO APPEAR AT AIRDOOME

Jack McGee of Goldfield, manager of Eddie McAuliffe and Danny Mathews, sends word that both of his boys are working their hardest to get in the best of condition for their coming battle that is to be staged by the Tonopah Business Men's Athletic club November 12. The Goldfield boys are working out every day before a big crowd of fight fans, the majority of the said fans being expected at the ringside in the coming bouts to cheer their town mates into victory. A great deal of money is expected to change hands as all four of the fighters have a world of backers who are willing to bet their money.

Jack Dratton, who boxes McAuliffe one of the ten round main events, is not under rating the latter. "McAuliffe is a much better boy than he is given credit for by the majority of the fans here who know nothing of him," said Dratton today, "and I am going to train for him as hard as if I was to box the champion of the world." McAuliffe is a confident little fellow who does a lot of talking and he now realizes he must win this fight or leave southern Nevada for good as life won't be worth living for him in either of the two towns if he loses.

Danny Mathews is considered as good as any lightweight in the west, and his fight with Bert Wagner should be a hummer. It is hard to tell which of the two boys is the best man. All that can be said of Mathews is that he is a good two-handed fighter and that he has met the toughest in the game during the five years he has been boxing. Wagner is a younger man but has fought a large number of times. He is considered a comer by all who have seen him in action.

After signing up these two bouts this card gives promise of being the most exciting show yet staged by the members of the new club.
